Trinchero Family Estates (TFE) today announced its purchase of the Five Rivers Winery facility in located in the Paso Robles AVA. TFE purchased the site from Fetzer Vineyards, who has owned it since 2000. The Five Rivers property totals 46 acres which includes 15 acres of vineyards planted to Petite Sirah and a winery facility that is over 90,000 square feet. Fetzer Vineyards is consolidating its operations at its corporate headquarters in Mendocino County.

Trinchero Family Estates plans to modernize the facility and add white wine capabilities to the site, which is ideally located in the midst of California's premier Central Coast growing region. The purchase of the Five Rivers facility will be critical to the growth and investment in the premium and super-premium business that Trinchero Family Estates has made a priority in recent months. The facility will enable careful, quality-focused growth for numerous brands that source from Central Coast vineyards. President and COO Bob Torkelson commented, "The purchase of the Five Rivers facility allows Trinchero Family Estates to further expand our operations in the Central Coast region and ensure that our production of wines from that region are managed with the utmost emphasis on quality."

Trinchero Family Estates is the second largest family-owned wine company in the United States that began in 1948 with one storied brand: Sutter Home. Multiple generations of the Trinchero family continue to own and operate the Napa Valley-based business that now employs over 1,500 employees and manages over 10,000 acres of vineyards.
